Sweet Haddock and juicy Cusks
Delight to press his marble slabs—
Nice Lobsters, from old ocean's green,
From Portland daily come by steam,
In their native salt water boiled,
And hot with fresh Kenduskeag spoiled—
Cod, in all his fishy whiteness
Mackerel, dazzling with his brightness
The noble Salmon, king of fishes,
The epicure of all the dishes;
And that which makes the paste gild,
The sweet and toothsome rive Shad;
These, with other smaller fry,
Besides the Pickled, Smoked and Dry,
At BICKFORD'S ever do abound.
When any where they can be found.

From our "Postscript" of yesterday.

News from Vicksburg to Friday Night.

Bombardment Going on.

6,000 Prisoners and 74 Cannon Captured.

Gen. Grant Confident of Success.

WASHINGTON, 25th.

The following procured from a high official source is the very latest from Vicksburg, dated Memphis 10 30 this forenoon. The dispatch is from General Hurlbut. He encloses a statement from the ordnance officer, showing the condition of affairs at 9 o'clock Friday night.

The city was not at that time taken. Great advantages, however, had been gained, the enemy making a firm resistance.

The impression prevailed that we would take Vicksburg the next day.

We at that time completely commanded the town. Our men had their colors planted on the enemy's outerworks.

Our captures were over 6000 prisoners and 74 pieces of artillery, some of which had been destroyed.

The position of our troops was—some of them within a mile, and others within a mile and a half of the Court House.

General Grant is represented as being in good spirits and confident of the most brilliant success.

It is supposed there are 6000 rebel troops at Vicksburg, who will doubtless be made prisoners in the event of the capture of the town.

The despatch further says the monitors and gunboats were in front of Vicksburg hard at work.

PHILADELPHIA, 25th.

The Washington Star of this evening says Seward has gone to New York

Referring to the N Y Tribune's report of the capture of the rebel army at Vicksburg the Star says none within our knowledge sanely us that this statement is entirely unfounded.

NEW YORK, 25th.

The Herald's Murfreesboro despatch of the 20th says. Mr. Vallandingham was received on an extra train from Nashville last night, and after a conversation with Gen Rosecrans, was put in an open wagon and escorted by cavalry to our outposts, and delivered to the enemy this forenoon. A single rebel private received him, Mr V. saying, 'I am a citizen of the United States. I am here against my will. I surrender myself as a prisoner of war."

The indications are that large bodies of rebel cavalry are going southward and that Breckinridge has fallen back. Rebels assert that Grant has been beaten, but give no particulars.

For several days the public had been expecting to welcome the Gallant Second, and Monday gave us the cheering news that they would be here Tuesday morning.

Yesterday morning all were anxiously waiting for the bells to announce that the Regiment had arrived at Rockland.

About 9 o'clock the welcome bell announced their arrival But they had come past Rockland in the night, consequently the first news was from the Committee, who met them at Bucksport, and the people had nearly time to form the line and prepare for their reception.

Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock the regiment left Alexandria in the steamer Expounder, Capt. Charles Deering, an old Penobscot steamboat captain, and without accident or interesting incident, arrived at Newport on Sunday, where they took in coal. They left Newport Sunday for Bangor, experiencing a little uncomfortable weather, not enough, however, to dampen the ardor of the boys, who were anxious to again return to their homes and friends.

About 4 o'clock yesterday morning they arrived at Bucksport, where they were met by Messrs Strickland and Hatch of the Committee, and Col. Roberts, formerly of the Second, who had in charge the old flags of the regiment, which have been defiantly borne by this noble band of men through eleven bloody battles, and which have been rent by traitorous shot and shell, until, torn and tattered, they have been replaced by others, and are now left as silent mementoes of those bloody and terrible conflicts.—The Committee were accompanied by Messrs. Lord, Vennie and Hathaway, who have always taken a deep interest in this gallant corps.

At ten o'clock the booming cannon announced their arrival, and the crowd rushed for the steam boat wharf in a manner terrifying to nervous people. We have never seen so much excitement. Police officers were powerless in the crowd, and the strong fence at the steamboat wharf required strengthening by powerful men to keep the multitude from rushing to their sons, brothers and fathers.

The officers of this regiment are as follows—

Colonel—George Varnum of Bangor.
Lieut. Colonel—Daniel F. Sargent; Brewer.
Surgeon—Samuel B. Morison of Bangor.
Assistant Surgeon—Wm. B. Benson of Newport.

Company K—Captain, Thos G Quimby of Oldtown.

Occasionally, in the crowd, could be seen a sad, mournful face and tearful eyes, showing that the grim tyrant had deprived them of some friend who had gone forth in the strength of his manhood to fight the battles of his country and his flag.

In a few moments the procession had arrived on front street, and prepared to receive the Second

The procession was under the direction of Gen J H Butler and Colonel James Dunning and Major Thomas Hersey of his staff, and was formed as follows—

A Co., Cavalry, Captain Manlift
Bangor Drum Corps
Bangor Cornet Band, A D Harlow, Leader
Co A, State Guard, Captain L J Morse
Co B, State Guard, Captain D Bagley,
Union Hose Co, Captain George A Styles
Charleston Brass Band
Eagle Engine Co No 2, Captain G H Chick
Tiger Engine Co No 5, Captain W H H Patcher
Hook and Ladder No 1, Captain W W Taylor
St Johns Commandery, Knights Templar, under command of Past M E Wm H Mills

A feature in the procession was the company of discharged soldiers of the regiment, who were placed in the rear of the Second, under command of Captains Emerson, Wilson and Hartlett Some of these were minus arms, others were limping along with the aid of crutches, fearfully telling the story of their trials and sufferings.

Along the line the buildings were decorated, flags flying, the shipping had on their holiday suits, and all was enthusiasm and excitement. The most prominent decorations were from Wheelwright & Clark's new block, which was hung with flags, and on one were the names of the various battles of the Second prominently painted

Among others, we noticed in the procession, Adjutant General Hodsdon and Colonel Osgood of Governor Coburn's staff, and Colonel Roberts, who rode with his former associate, Colonel Varney

The Regiment was received in the usual form and escorted to Broadway, where an immense throng had assembled, filling the entire square

After the military had taken position, Alderman Hatch, Chairman of the Committee, presented Mayor Dale to Colonel Varney and the regiment

Mr Hatch said—

Mr Mayor—I have the honor to introduce to you Colonel Varney of the Second Regiment of Maine Volunteers To the noble and heroic officers and privates of this gallant Regiment the hearts of our loyal citizens send out an affectionate and grateful welcome It is for you, Mr Mayor, in the name of the city, to welcome them back to their homes and to the hearts of the people

Mayor Dale then welcomed them in the following neat and appropriate speech

Col Varney, Officers and Soldiers of the 2d Maine Regiment

It is a high honor imposed on me, as Chief Magistrate of this city—that of bidding you welcome on your return from the seat of war, after an absence of two, long and anxious years. You left this spot, where we are now congregated, with 800 strong, earnest and loyal men to do battle for your country Your now decimated ranks tell its own story "Your country was attacked and you have defended it"—"Civil war was upon us and you have met it," and thus it is, that out of all those strong and devoted men in such large numbers, so small a proportion are here to-day On the spot where we parted with you, amid the cheers of the multitude—the good-bye of all, We welcome your return And in behalf of our city, and in the name of all our people, and this vast assemblage, I bid you a hearty, generous and grateful welcome

We welcome you to-day, Colonel Varney, with mingled feelings of joy and pride, of sadness and gloom Of joy, that so many of your number are with us to be welcomed to-day Of pride, at the high and honorable position your regiment has gained at Stone Bridge, at Yorktown, at Yorktown Seige, at Hanover Court House, at Gaines' Mills, your seven days at Chickahominy, at Malvern Hill, at Bull Run, at Antietam, at Fredericksburg and Chancellorsville These brave and daring exploits, Colonel Varney, make us feel proud of our own Second Maine with its several brave commanders, (the dead and the living,) and it is thus again which draws us together in such numbers to-day, to do honor to your brave soldiers Again would we welcome you Yes! thrice welcome, do we greet you!

I said, Colonel Varney, this occasion was mingled with joy and sadness, and have spoken to you of the former What shall be said of the latter?

Beside and around me are anxious, bleeding, broken hearts, mourning the loss of dear and loved ones! What words of consolation can this welcome bring to them? There are no words of consolation we can offer that will soothe the bereaved heart "God alone who tempers the wind to the shorn lamb," alone can impart consolation, and to Him the door of welcome is always open

We miss from your ranks to-day, the tall, manly, graceful form of him who was your first commander Yonder amid the green in that quiet spot, with flowers planted by a loving wife, sanctioned with children's tears, mourned by comrades in arms, by neighbors, friends and all, lies all that was earthly of him whom we loved The heroic spirit of your Jameson, it may be, is now hovering o'er this spot, while those of Jones, Dehn, Rowe, Richardson, Smart, Holden, officers, were in Billings, Moore, Prescott, Jose and other brave soldiers are in sweet communion with him. Let us imitate their bravery, their love of country, not forgetting all the brave dead who die for it, while we do honor to the sacrifices of the noble, loyal living

Your second brave commander is with you to-day, welcoming you back to your homes. He came with worn and tattered flags, which you received from ours and other hands, promising to protect Fulfilling that pledge, we have by his hand received them, and we again pledge you that these trophies of your valor shall by us be preserved in the archives of our city—that we will not forget the valors nor the cause they have espoused.

We are, Colonel Varney, rejoiced to meet you to-day and greet you and your command with a hearty welcome Accept it as the outpourings of generous, loyal hearts, while our prayers shall arise for the sick and wounded of your armies, the success of our cause, the peace, prosperity and welfare of our nation

And now, Colonel Varney, officers and soldiers of the 2d Maine, we again greet you and bid you welcome, and in behalf of the city, and in their name we invite you to our hospitalities and to the honors due from us, as we return you

"To the friends who smile to meet you,
To the homes which wait to greet you!
To the arms which long to press you,
To the hearts which love and bless you.
To your fathers, children, brothers,
To your sweethearts, wives and mothers—
Welcome!"

and may God bless you all.

Colonel Varney briefly responded, thanking Mayor Dale and the citizens for their uniform kindness and attention to the regiment, and also for their generous and hearty welcome.

A little daughter of J S Wheelwright, Esq., then advanced and presented Colonel Varney an elegant bouquet, which he gracefully received in behalf of his regiment

At the close, enthusiastic and deafening cheers were given for Colonel Varney, the officers of the Second, and also for the regiment The boys responded with three times three and a tiger, for Mayor Dale, the citizens and ladies

The procession then marched to Norombega Hall, where a bountiful collation had been provided

The Throne of Grace was addressed by Rev Mr Gilman of this city, after which the Second, and invited guests paid attention to the eatables

The portion of the programme being disposed of, Mayor Dale introduced Adjutant General Hodsdon, who was received with enthusiasm, and responded as follows

Col Varney

It has become my high privilege as Chief of Staff, as well as my exalted duty in the absence of Governor Coburn, (who would gladly have been present upon this interesting and momentous occasion, had it been in his power,) to tender to you, and to your brave companions in arms, the welcomes he thanks and the profound homage of the State, for the enduring honor you have conferred upon it, through all the numerous and varied scenes of peril and responsibility which you have been called upon to pass

Unreservedly our hearts go out to you, and each of you, with love and gratitude for the toils and dangers you have braved and endured in the cause of your country

In the first regiment in the field from Maine, you earn second to none in the annals of history to your record of gallant heroism and fidelity during every hour of your period of service

With our laurels for your valiant living, and our tears for your glorious dead, the name and deeds of the Second Regiment of Maine Volunteers, will be enstamped among the most cherished and honored memories of patriotic heroism said sacred by the State, and be hoke with "Stone Bridge," "Yorktown," "Yorktown Seige," "Hanover Court House," "Hanover Mills," "The Seven Days' Battles upon the Chickahominy," "Malvern Hill," "Bull Run," "Antietam," "Fredericksburg," "Chancellorsville," through all coming time

This beautiful tribute to the Second Maine, written by Mrs M, L A, of this city, was then sung by a choir

Welcome to the Second Maine!

They are coming, friends and countrymen! five hundred heroes in line
They marched beneath that starry flag, our perilled land to bless!
They've withered 'neath the southern sun, they've pined within the camps,
They've frozen in the sleety storms, they've fainted in the swamps!
Fraternal might keep our nation's name, a name of glory yet!
All hearts are swelling proudly as we greet the band of left,
All eyes are dim with sorrow o'er the homes they find bereft.
They left their hearths the left their loves, they bleeding hearts to hide,
For them aloft our spangled flag, a glory said in pride!
Ah! not the one of silken web we gave them when they went!
We've laid that up, in glorious rest, all pierced and stained and rent!
Three welcome be those broken ranks! Straw down ye beneath their tread!
Not them as arms, but knights are they, the gallant Hooker said!
So nobly have they suffered, and so high a guerdon sought,
This fairest praise from heav'n lips their faithful lives have bought.
Thank God, the souls he gave our boys, were souls so strong and true!
And not a single stain has marred that starry field of blue!
Our hearts are swelling proudly for the valiant sons of Maine!
Our tears that, all unbidden, start, are not the cars of pain!
Well done! ye brave and faithful men Ye've earned your welcome home!
Proud fields of stately valor back, your furrowed remnants came!
We thank you for the lustre shed on us by deeds like yours!
For tales we'll tell our child en, too, in future sun bright hours!
When rising clouds are lifted up, and treasons fires are down,
When Old Columbia sparkle forth in Freedom's ground, new crown,
We'll gather those (ears) as now we do which are no fears of pain
And tell our children's listening ears of the grand OLD SECOND MAINE

"General Hooker is said to have remarked of late, 'The Army of the Potomac is the finest on this planet. They are not merely men at arms, but knights' No material except of the highest character could endure without trembling, the dread fal privations they have undergone both this ar my has not yet grumbled"

Ex-Gov Washburn was called upon, and loudly cheered

Mr Washburn said—

When, two years ago, the Regiment took its departure for the field of active service, it was his grateful duty, in behalf of the people of the State, to bid them good by and God speed; and he then thought he knew them well enough to predict that they would win such laurels as only the brave were permitted to wear, and that those who should return to their homes would bring Maine's flags along with them and none others; and it was just because they had done this—because what was prophecy then, is glorious fulfilment now—because they had on many a hard battle field shown themselves brave, and strong, and true—that all the loyal people of Maine salute them, and welcome them to their hearts. (in no occasion had they fairer—never had they done an credit to themselves or dishonor to the State

They left the State high in hope, and determined in purpose, but thinking (as they do not doubt) that the summons for their services would terminate before the time for which they had entered expired. But the term had expired, and they were here, and the war was not ended But had they failed?—had their services, their trials, and sacrifices been in vain? No, no. They had gloriously succeeded, nay, even better than they had hoped in their most confident moments.—They had proved what manner of men compose our loyal communities—how strong and patient, and enduring to suffer they are—how much such men can accomplish—how much they are worth—and how enduring and powerful is a Government of which they are pillars

Two years ago, when they left on the instant and rushed to the call of the country, there was a feeling of doubt and uncertainty among the people as to the end. Would the old ship ride it out? Could the crew be depended on? Many said was practically in the hands of the insurgents, and so was all of Virginia. Kentucky and Missouri were on the brink of the precipice, ready, as it would seem, to fall into the abyss.—Now we KNOW ALL IS SAFE. There is no doubt about it The Union, one and indivisible, is a fixed fact, and no power can blot it or burn it out Men feel it. Maryland is as loyal to day as Maine, the half of Virginia is heart and soul on the old Union; Kentucky gives herself to the holy cause; Missouri reaches out both hands to the loyal government in the exhilarant act of many beatitudes—an act which John Quincy Adams and other sages and patriots lived hoping to see, but died without the sight! The rebellion is being crowded into narrow quarters, and must die for want of breath. Nobody can say precisely how soon; but the end we know is safe, thanks to the glorious 2d Regiment, and others like it, which, by their patience, have stood and kept the ground and driven back the foe, until the issues of time approaches, when danger's clouded sights is passing away, and the benignant stars of Hope and Peace are seen rising above the horizon. Three soldiers of the Union had proved that we have a Government the most firm, a Nation the most powerful, a People the richest in resources and strongest in moral force that ever existed beneath the sun See how it has carried on this terrible war—a war to subdue the most gigantic rebellion in history,—and scarcely felt, except in the loss of brave sons. It has not even touched its resources! Here, all the time, the people had been numbering, ship building, taxing, planting, sowing, building churches, establishing charities, marrying and giving in marriage, as in peace and the highest national prosperity only were in the land Could such a Government—such a people be destroyed?

The efficiency of our troops was very much owing to the character of the officers, and it was his pleasure to remember how fortunate the regiment had been in its officers generally, and especially in its commanders, all of whom had been among the most brave, faithful and accomplished that have honored the service in any other State

During the two years that he had been in office, it was his strength and support always, that however many errors and mistakes he might make,—and he knew he made many—they would be covered up by the gallant deeds and splendid actions of Maine soldiers in the field

The Mayor made graceful allusion to the first commander of the regiment The occasion reminded us of the gallant and chivalrous Jameson. On the day succeeding the fall of Sumter, the speaker met him in the morning in this city and counselled with him in reference to the immediate duty of the state. He then aided in getting up the great first meeting in Norombega, it sounded the key note of patriotism and thrilled the loyal hearts of Maine and the country He gave up his business and committed himself unreservedly to his country In the army by his fervent patriotism, his rare capacity and straight forward manly views, and by his gallantry, he won the confidence and admiration of his superior officers, and was all with whom he was associated and now that he has gone, his name and deeds will be held in honored and affectionate remembrance by all who in any manner partake the noble elements that were at the basis of his character

Hereafter, when the people of this Queen city which sits beautiful as a bride on the banks of the Penobscot and the Kenduskeag, and of the empire country of the East shall look over the record of their chequered pas hrough they will discover none of which they will be more proud than of an the name of General Jameson and of the officers and soldiers of the Second Maine Regiment

"Star Spangled Banner" was then given by the Bangor Cornet Band

Vice President Hamlin was called for, and received with enthusiasm

Mr Hamlin responded briefly to the call He said he wished the Mayor had excused him At such a time as hearts were beating, and the blood flowing so rapidly, there was no language adequate to the occasion. In this gay assemblage with the vast concourse of our people who came to greet them, he was rejoiced to meet the returning veterans, officers and men of the gallant 2d Maine Regiment, with most prominent with laurels won upon many a hard contested field They had gone forth to battle for the integrity of our country, with a confidence in all true men, that they would do their whole duty bravely and gallantly, and well had that confidence been sustained. In all the fields of carnage, on pleasant duty and in the stern strife of battle, there had come to them at home, of one gallant prowess were to them, a common and unsurpassed account of their patriotic and manly bearing. But the altered and diminished ranks which they bore with them spoke a language more eloquent than words That none been lost in the dreadful by the main from shame in camp and which was entrusted to him to designate the regiment to which it should be presented told the story of their valor and their's as it tells us in its rents and stains its own true story No words can add to it. None but the brave and gallant hearts could have borne it where it has been All honor and praise to the brave Second Maine

To say this to you have won our respect and praise is not enough We thank you this hour, as of every true man and woman in our city

But amidst this greeting and rejoicing, this warm and heartfelt welcome, there will come the feeling of sadness at your diminished ranks. How many who went forth with you and cannot tread to battle in the impending contest, are standing as such as returning to their desolate mother While we greet the living, we must pause to remember and do justice to the honored dead.

Now sleep the brave who sink to rest,
With all their country's wishes blest

Amidst the sands of sadness, and intermingles with the occasion It is because there are too many in our community who have no friendly greeting or sympathy in your heroic acts their lives are a perfect barrenness of their being. They have no home experience in the matter. Perhaps your dear sons, brothers, husbands pass thank God, you have returned to your homes your friends and all you hold dear, to rejoice with us at the glad tidings that come from the victorious arms in the West Your acts shall be remembered in all time by the true and the good—but a mournful tear is shall be stamped in undying sense of infamy as ever to be effaced

As of the Second Maine, we respect you as soldiers and we honor you for your heroic deeds and your devotion to your country.

The Band then played "Hail Columbia"

David Barker, Esq., of Exeter, was called for Mr Barker said they had already heard the thunders and cannon of prose, and he proposed to give them the infantry of poetry He cared not for the high officials, the Judges of the Supreme Court or the members of Congress he saw about him—he addressed himself to the boys who had so nobly and gallantly fought the battles of their country, and who had borne aloft their old flag through many a bloody conflict He then recited the following beautiful poem with marked effect

A Welcome to the 2d Maine Regiment.

BY DAVID BARKER

Though enfeebled by ollins, and disfigured by scars
Here's a "we coming home" to you, children of Mars—

From your honors and perils, through your rivers of gore,
We will welcome you back like the Templars of yore—

Like the Knights, who, (the sing and the legend hath told)
Brought their wounds from the lands of the Paynim of old

We will welcome you warriors, all weary and worn,
We will welcome your bannels all tattered and torn,

For those rents tell the world you've accomplished your part,
And the light streaming through gilds the hope of the heart!

But I see through the lens of a gli sening tear—
Oh, I see what my heart hath long taught me to fear—

There are comp of your braves who walked out in their might,
There are some from your ranks, who went forth to the fight,

Are lok here with you how in a bodily form,
Are not here in your ranks with their hearts beating warm—

Yet they know, and they feel, and they live as be fore—
Mid your scenes of to-day they are here en rapport

Though the chest on your rolls may as a part of you stand,
Yet we welcome you all as the Second of Maine,

And to you who survive, and to those who have bled—
Here's a welcome to all, whether living or dead

Lewis Barker, Esq., being called for from the crowd, came forward from the ranks of Knights Templar of St John's Commandery, and in a short speech welcomed home the gallant regiment He said they had received a warm greeting from the City and State, the Military, the Civil and Both, four Orders, and it only remained for him, in behalf of the gallant order of Sir Knights, for which he was happy to plant, Colonel Varney as a member, to extend a warm, Masonic welcome to his brother and his noble regiment. They had a tradition in their order that the ceremony of shaking hands originated among their ancient brethren, who were worshippers of Fides, the god of fidelity. He was represented by two right hands joined together, or by two human figures holding each other by the right hand, and the ceremony of shaking hands was, therefore, an act of worship, and a pledge of fidelity Mr B declared, therefore, to take their brother, Colonel Varney, by the right hand as a token of sincerity in behalf of the Sir Knights present in welcoming him home to the scenes of his childhood

Among the first teachings of our Masonic institution is the instruction never to be concerned in plots and conspiracies against government, but at all times to be obedient to the laws of the country in which we live, and it is a source of pride that so many of the order have obeyed the teachings and ranked to the ranks of our Government from this wicked and causeless rebellion

We welcome you Colonel, your officers, your men, and your noble but tattered flag That Banner tells the whole story—

"It tells of a battle field of gore,
Of the sabres clash, of the cannon's roar,
Of the deadly charge, of the bugle note,
Of a gurgling sound in a foeman's throat,
Of the whizzing grape, of the fiery shell,
And of scenes that rival the scenes of hell"

From such scenes we again and again welcome you to our hearts, our hearths and our homes

Hon F A Pike of Calais was then called for and enthusiastically received

Mr Pike said—

Mr Mayor, Officers and Soldiers of the 2d Regt

I had not expected until a moment since, that I should have the honor of mingling my voice with those of your immediate neighbors and friends in extending to you a welcome home from the scenes of your labors and glory But it is as well. One needs no time to prepare words of welcome On an occasion like this they spring spontaneously to the lips of every man who has a heart to feel, or a mind to comprehend the vast importance of the work you, and men like you, have been doing for our common country It is only when excuses are to be made or apologies framed for lack in the performance of duty that time is needed Luckily for ourselves, and the State you have all much honored the second Regiment needs no excuses or apologies It has always, everywhere, done all that any one had a right to expect of it and a little more! I am glad to be here to say it I reckon it one of the sunny days of my life that I make one of the vast concourse of people that offer you the grand ovation You have deserved it The Mayor has said that perhaps some of you may be from the east, and for that reason I, as a Representative of an Eastern District, should be called upon among others to give a welcoming voice I am proud of the fact that some of you are from the Congressional District I have the honor to represent, and I am forward to put in our claim to a share in your honors I have been afraid that these generous Penobscot people, in the ampitude of their great hearts, would assume you the Bulk I know that I am fully authorized by the whole east, and that in their behalf I can express gratitude faithfully, when I say they are proud of you, proud of your achievements, proud of your regimental history They have watched your course anxiously, never doubting your manliness and high courage, and always rejoicing heartily in your successes and honors They have sent forth liberally their sons to bear with you the burdens and share the dangers of the battle field and regret only that they have done it You have all fought as well as men ever fought and for as righteous a cause as any ever fought for since the 'morning stars sang together and all the sons of God shouted for joy' And still the unnatural strife goes on! No man can say when it will be ended, but I cannot but hope that when next year, we receive with shouts to welcome the men of the State, who shall come back after their three years service, our gallant soldiers will be welcomed home bearing with them not only the glorious memories of war, but the milder blessings of peace—a peace that shall see that flag floating in gentle triumph over every foot of the thirty five States of this Union!

Music by the Band

Dr Harris was then called upon and said—

He had not expected the honor of saying any word of welcome; but his heart was full and he could not refuse to respond to the call Every class and every interest welcomes you We thank you for what you have done and suffered for us, and for the glory which you have secured to our State We must also congratulate you that you have won for yourselves a glory which money can not buy—that it is incorporated into your history—you will tell your children and grand-children of your experience in the noble fields, and, as long as your lives, men will say of you, "This man belongs to the 2d Maine"

It has been said here that no one knows how long the war will last It will last till the rebellion is subdued and the authority of the Government re-established The people are calmly but in exhibly settling down in this decision And why not? We fight for the preservation of a government which Jef Davis himself, three months before he was leading the rebellion against it, declared to be the best institution of all governments, and to have been the best administered, and to have conferred the greatest benefits on the people And look at our conditions in a civil war, which is always considered the first terrible of wars—yet all peaceful pursuits going on as usual, business prosperous the people subscribing for government securities faster than the bonds can be prepared, foreign nations to feed foreign nations that are at peace and the people of those nations crowding to our shores for remunerative employment even while their newspapers insist that we are ruined We are taxed, it is true, but the census of 1860 shows that in the previous ten years the property of the country increased 128 per cent A tax which now levies one dollar on a hundred, would in ten years hence, be raised by levying less than 50 cents on a hundred dollars We ought to be ashamed to think of any end to the war but the suppression of the rebellion

By your steadfastness in manly battles, and your manly performance of your duty, you have shown yourselves worthy of the noble cause for which you have fought In this we would copy your example. God help us all to prove ourselves worthy of the work which, in the great hour of decision, is given us to do

Colonel Roberts, formerly of the Second, was called for, and took the stand He was loudly cheered by the soldiers He was unable to express his feelings upon this memorable occasion as they had returned from their long, weary, tedious, but, thank God, faithful services. When he looked upon their decimated ranks, a feeling of sadness stole over him for those brave and gallant comrades who had laid down their lives upon the altar of their country. History would do justice to their memory A marble shaft had been erected, upon which will be read and re-read in after years by their friends and relatives He could only say peace to their ashes—God bless them all! He had mingled with them in the camp and the field, shared with them their sorrows and their pleasures, and time could never obliterate or efface those recollections He now proposed three cheers for a man and a patriot, one whose victorious troops loved him, and who loved his people, the brave and gallant Gen George B McClellan Rousing cheers were given by the Second Maine.

The services closed with cheers for the Union and the Second Maine

Among the guests present to do honor to the Second we noticed Vice President Hamlin, Ex-Governor Washburn, Hon F A Pike of Calais, Judges Appleton, Cutting, Davis, Kent, and Barrows, Adjutant General Hodsdon and Col Osgood of Governor Coburn's staff, Land Agent Chapman, Ex-Land Agent Norris, and Hon. Noah Woods.

Hon John H. Rice of Foxcroft, who has always shown a patriotic devotion to all the Maine Regiments in the field, sent the following letter of declination.

FOXCROFT, May 18, 1863

My Dear Sir:— * * * * It would afford me great pleasure could I with myself of your kind consideration, and be present on the interesting occasion referred to, nor contribute in the extent of my ability to the honors so bravely earned and so richly due to the gallant officers and soldiers of our first and favorite regiment.

I must heartily rejoice that the representatives of the free-hearted and patriotic citizens of Bangor, thus generously tender their welcome to these brave and constant defenders of "our liberty and laws," on their return from their fields of suffering and service, fame and glory

Please communicate to your associates and accept for yourself my thanks for your considerations and courtesy, while, I remain,

Very respectively and truly, your ob't serv't,
JOHN H RICE

S G Hatch, Chairman of Committee

Norombega Hall was splendidly decorated The Committee have been indefatigable in their exertions to complete their arrangements in a satisfactory manner. Flags and bunting were hung in every part of the Hall In the centre were two large flags, on which was written in evergreen "Welcome Home to the Second Maine" Around the Hall in similar letters were printed the names of the eleven battles in which the Second Maine have participated—"Bull Run," "Yorktown and Siege," "Hanover Court House," "Gaines' Mill," "Chickahominy and Seven Days Fight," "Malvern Hill," "Second Bull Run," "Antietam," "Shepardstown Ford," "Fredericksburg," "Chancellorsville"

On the platform were two field pieces, covered with flags and wreaths, and near them stood the old flags, the pride of the regiment and the glory of our citizens One was presented by the ladies of Bangor, the morning the regiment left the city—another was presented by Maine citizens in New York, and still another which was presented by the ladies of California, and the last was a secesh flag captured by the Second from an Alabama regiment at the hard fought battle of Gaines' Mill, and which will be treasured by our city as an evidence of the prowess and valor of the regiment at that fearful struggle

At the close of the services the boys were allowed liberty to follow their own inclinations—Those who had homes in the city made fast time for the bosoms of their families, and those who had not, went to their quarters at the City Hall and Gymnasium At the present writing, ten o'clock, the city is as quiet as is usual

The second Regiment have seen an amount of service, in their two years' of war, which would put to blush many of the veteran troops of the old world They have been in eleven bloody and terrible conflicts, besides skirmishes innumerable During all their trials, tedious marches and desperate battles, they have never fainted, never faltered, but have steadily and steadiently upheld the old flag, and have been ever ready to lay down their lives, if need be, to support the glorious institutions of our free Republican government

Bangor may justly feel proud of the heroic deeds of this gallant and noble regiment—Penobscot County may feel proud of them—yea the whole State may look back at their regimental career with pride and satisfaction, and future generations will rise to bless the living and revere the memory of the noble dead

BODY OF A SOLDIER FOUND. The body of a soldier, belonging to the 17th Maine, Co Centers, was found in the water near Portland Bridge yesterday, having been in the water probably for three months. Coroner Hall was called, but deemed it necessary to hold an inquest. It was ascertained that the soldier's name was Charles Gilman, and that he enlisted in the 17th Volunteers at Augusta, on the 1st of November, 1862. A pass was found upon the body which was signed by Capt. Lyndon, on the 19th of February, 1863, which was given Gilman to come into the city, but as he did not return, he was entered on the books as a deserter. UTICA, N. Y., 26th

The Loyal League Convention re-assembled this afternoon, and a committee was appointed.

The Convention was permanently organized by the choice of General John Cochrane as President, with a large number of Vice Presidents and Secretaries.

A State Central Committee of 15 was also appointed.

The Committee on resolutions reported a series of resolves which were adopted. They denounce party organizations and recommend the establishment of Loyal Leagues to support the Government, characterize the rebellion as aimed at the overthrow of republican institutions, and pledging the people to peace as soon as the authority of the national Government is restored; recognizing the existence of powers in the government, incident to a state of war, to be exercised when necessary to the preservation of the national existence, but say that when the exigencies of the country compel the abridgement of freedom of speech or press, or suspension of the habeas corpus, the greatest care should be taken against establishing a dangerous precedent.

The resolution embodying their sentiments with regard to the powers of the government gave rise to considerable debate, in the course of which, the arrest of Vallandigham seemed to be approved by the sentiment of the Convention — the resolution was recompleted, and the Convention took a recess until 7 o'clock.

At the evening session a resolution was passed in place of the resolution with regard to the powers of the government proposed in the afternoon, approving of the utmost enforcement of law against those in the North aiding the enemies of the country; that leading traitors should be promptly arrested, promptly tried, and promptly punished; and that no outcry, however insolent, should be allowed to deter any officer, civil or military, from taking measures essential to the safety of the country; expressing as a convic tion of the majority of loyal people that, when necessarily compelled a suspension of the habeas corpus, great care should be exercised lest an example should be set which may induce in the future a violation of our rights.

After two hours debate the resolution was adopted.

A resolution was unanimously passed assuring an earnest and unwavering support of the Government in the suppression of the rebellion.

An address to the people was read and adopted. It urges the formation of Loyal Leagues throughout the country, without any political prejudices, but with the sole purpose of sustaining the Government.

SOUTHERN ITEMS. The Richmond Examiner thinks Hooker was so badly beaten that the rebels can now easily invade the North and dictate the terms of peace. The Enquirer expects there will be another battle soon between Hooker and Lee, in which the latter will be victorious, as a matter of course, and follow up his victory by the investment of Washington and the invasion of Maryland. Once in Maryland, it argues that a severe policy should be pursued toward the people of the State, as nothing was gained by the conciliatory policy last summer.

The Richmond Examiner charges the rebel governments with keeping back unfavorable news from the public, while speculators get hold of it and make fortunes by operations in the market. The fall of Jackson was kept from the public for five days.

The rebel papers say there is a powder mill at the South which produces five thousand pounds of powder daily, and that enough has been manufactured to last the Confederacy for several years.

A man named James Price, with his son and nephew, were hung by lynch law in Jefferson, Ashe county, N C, a few days ago.

ACCIDENT. While the Second were passing Brewer Village, the musicians fired a salute which came near resulting in a fatal accident. The powder had been put in the cannon and they were about to ram down the charge, when a premature explosion occurred, which severely injured Mr. B. Goodwin in the eyes, and slightly injured Messrs. F. Swett and N. Phillips. The injuries are not dangerous.

It is reported that Colonel Hiram Burnham of the 6th Maine has resigned.

FROM TEXAS. A letter from an official source in Mexico says that Bragg is made the rendezvous for the Texas navy, and that the "first thing we know we will be terribly terrified by what we hear from there." The writer says nearly all classes of goods are as cheap as in New Orleans. Refugees and deserters constantly arriving in Mexico from Texas bring the news. The Union men still hold out faithful though heart-sick at the repeated disappointments. The rebels have made Gen. Hamilton's wife a hostage to check his labors in the North.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.
Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough, Quinsy, and the [illegible] as well as dangerous diseases of the Throat, Chest and Lungs, are yearly, in our changeable climate, at all seasons of the year: few are fortunate enough to escape their baneful influence. How important then to have at hand a certain antidote to all these complaints—Experience proves that this exists in Wistar's Balsam, to an extent not known in any other remedy; however severe the suffering, the application of this soothing, healing and wonderful Balsam at once vanquishes the disease and restores the sufferer to wanted health.

From a Highly Respectable Apothecary in Bangor.

BANGOR, Oct. 4, 1860

Messrs. S. W. Fowle & Co:—Please send me a few dozen of WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY. The demand for this excellent preparation for diseases of the Throat and Lungs, renders it necessary that I should purchase a considerable quantity of it. It has an enviable reputation which it has acquired upon its own merits alone. My customers assure me of their unbounded confidence in the medicine, and I consider it without a superior in the list of similar specifics. The fact of its having been before the public so long, and the demand still continuing, is proof positive of its appreciation by the afflicted portion of mankind. Respectfully yours.

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE
Washington, April 28, 1863

General Orders No. 105

The organization of an Invalid Corps is hereby authorized.

This Corps shall consist of Companies, and shall hereafter be, taught back, of Battalions

The Companies shall be made up from the following sources, viz.

First. By taking those officers and enlisted men of commands now in the field (whether actually present or temporarily absent) who from wounds received in action or disease contracted in the line of duty, are unfit for field service, but are still capable of effective garrison duty, or such other light duty as may be required of an Invalid Corps.

Regimental Commanders shall at once mark out, from information received from the Medical and Company Officers, and from their own knowledge, rolls (one each for the Force furnished) of the names of all the officers and enlisted men under their commands who fulfill the following conditions, viz

1 That they are unfit for actively field service on account of wounds or disease contracted in the line of duty, this fact being certified by a Medical Officer in the service, and approved by the examining Surgeon and Regimental Commander and transmitted, through the regular channel of military correspondence, to the Provost Marshal General of the United States

2 That they are fit for garrison duty; this fact being likewise certified by the Medical Officer, as above, after personal examination.

3 That they are, in the opinion of their commanding officers, meritorious and deserving

These rolls shall be certified by the examining Surgeon and Regimental Commander and transmitted, through the regular channel of military correspondence, to the Provost Marshal General of the United States

The Regimental Commander shall enter in the column of remarks, opposite each officer's name on the roll, a statement, as to the general character of the officer for capability, industry, steadiness and attention to duty, and all intermediate Commanders shall endorse thereon such facts as they may possess in the case, or if they have none, they shall state how far they are willing to endorse the opinion of the officer or officers making the recommendation. Similar rolls shall be forwarded from time to time, whenever the number of men fulfilling the conditions enumerated or the exigencies of the service may render it expedient

Second. Retaining those officers and enlisted men still in service and borne on the rolls, but who are absent from duty in Hospitals or Convalescent Camps or are otherwise under the control of Medical Officers. In these cases the Medical Officer in attendance shall prepare the rolls and return the same, entering the names of officers and enlisted men of the same Regiment on a roll by themselves, and send them with the certificate of the Surgeon in charge, as to the propriety of the recommendation, who will forward them, as hereinbefore specified, subject to the same conditions and requirements. In all cases, the Regimental Commander shall in making an officer's name, in point of character, to omit the fact of the service of the latter having been dishonorably and certified by the Surgeon, he will state whether such person is in the opinion of such Surgeon, in a condition before signing the certificate. If any officer or enlisted man now in the service, but absent, and beyond the reach of a Medical Officer in charge of a Hospital or Convalescent Camp desires a position for this Corps, he will make the desire known to his Commanding Officer, who may be in command of those who have been honorably discharged from the service.

Third. By accepting those officers and enlisted men who have been honorably discharged on account of wounds or disease contracted in the line of duty, and who desire to re-enter the service. In the case of an officer, application for appointment must be made to the Provost Marshal General of the United States, through the officer in command of the existing consistent Provost Marshal General of the State. No application of this kind will be entertained unless the following conditions are completely fulfilled.

1 That the applicant's previous service, certificate of the Surgeon of the Board of Examination by which he was discharged, shall be on account of wounds or disease contracted in the line of duty, and who desire to re-enter the service. In the case of an officer, application for appointment must be made to the Provost Marshal General of the United States, through the officer in command of the existing consistent Provost Marshal General of the State. No application of this kind will be entertained unless the following conditions are completely fulfilled.

2 That the applicant's previous service, certificate of the Surgeon of the Board of Examination by which he was discharged, shall be on account of wounds or disease contracted in the line of duty, and who desire to re-enter the service. In the case of an officer, application for appointment must be made to the Provost Marshal General of the United States, through the officer in command of the existing consistent Provost Marshal General of the State. No application of this kind will be entertained unless the following conditions are completely fulfilled.

3 That he furnish evidence of honorable discharge and account of wounds or disability contracted in the line of duty

4 That he produce recommendations from the Regimental, Brigade, and Division Commanders under whom he formerly served, that he is worthy of being thus provided for and capable of returning adequate service to the Government. In case it shall be impracticable to get this last evidence he may, having established the first two points, satisfy the Board of Appointment that he is deserving, and present in substance all the facts of evidence thereof all be obtained by the applicant, and must be transmitted with his application for appointment

If there be no Acting Assistant Provost Marshal General for the district the application may be forwarded through the Adjutant General of the district who is desired to endorse thereon such facts as may be in his military history of the applicant as he may know or be afforded by his records, and forward the same to the Provost Marshal General of the United States. Enlisted persons, honorably discharged on account of disability, desiring to re-enlist in their former regiments or to the Board of Enrollment for the District in which they reside, for examination by the Surgeon thereof who shall examine them and report the result to the Board of Enrollment.

The Board shall then consider each case, and if the applicant is found to fulfill the conditions specified below, the Board shall give him a certificate to that effect, viz

1 That he is unfit for service in the field

2 That he is fit for garrison duty

3 That he is meritorious and deserving

4 That he was honorably discharged from the service

The Provost Marshal for the District shall then send the application with this certificate of the Board to the Acting Assistant Provost Marshal General of the State who shall procure such evidence of service and character as the records of the Department to which he belonged or the State Adjutant General of the State, may afford, and if satisfied that the applicant is of a meritorious class, and that the man is deserving, he will enlist him in accordance with such special rules as the Provost Marshal General may establish

Medical Inspectors Surgeons in charge of Hospitals, Military Commanders, and all officers having authority to discharge, under existing laws and regulations, are forbidden to grant discharges to any men under their command who may be fit for service in the Invalid Corps.

The Provost Marshal General is charged with the execution of this order and the Invalid Corps, and under it will be under the control of his Bureau.

By order of the Secretary of War

E D TOWNSEND,
Assistant Adjutant General
